SUPREME COURT.

Friday, March 10th.

IN SUMMARY JURISDICTION.

Before His Honour Mr. F. A. HAZLAND (Acting Puisne Judge).

APPEARANCE UNDER PROTEST.
A case was mentioned in which Thomas O'Kane brought action against the Anglo-Chinese Education Trust Co., Ltd., to recover $400.00.

Mr. J. H. Gardiner represented the plaintiff, and Mr. Otto Keng Sing was the solicitor for the defendants.
Mr. Keng Sing—I appear for the defendant under protest in this action, and ask your Lordship to strike it out. I think my friend knows that he has sued the wrong people.

Mr. Gardiner—I am instructed they are the right people.

His Lordship—Shall I treat it as an adjourned case?

Mr. Keng Sing—I would ask your Lordship to adjourn it for a week.

Mr. Gardiner—And would your Lordship order discovery?

His Lordship ordered mutual discovery, and adjourned the case for a week.

ORDER FOR PAYMENT OUT.
Cheung Hing v. Grace Gordon was an action brought by the plaintiff to recover $32.50, being as to $17.50 due for wages, and as to $15, being for one month's wages in lieu of notice.

Mr. Christopher Wilson, who appeared for the plaintiff, said he got judgment last week. When he received a letter from Messrs. Goldring, Barlow & Morrell stating that their failure to attend was due to an oversight, and that the case had been restored to the list. It did not now appear, and he asked his Lordship to remove the stay of execution.

His Lordship—I ordered the case to be put on the list.

Mr. Wilson—I had no notice of the application, and I should have something to say to this rehearing. I asked Mr. Goldring last week if he appeared for the defendant, and he said he did not.

His Lordship—Mr. Barlow saw me and I told him I would stay the execution and restore the case to the list.

Mr. Wilson did not think the plaintiff ought to be made to suffer further by reason of the non-appearance of the defendant.

His Lordship sent for Mr. Barlow, who said he had no further instructions and did not think the case was on the list.

His Lordship—You made application for a stay of execution and wanted the case restored.

Mr. Barlow—On Wednesday I wrote to the defendant stating that I refused to set any more, and telling her that she must get another solicitor.

His Lordship—Has the money been paid into Court?

Mr. Wilson—Yes.

His Lordship—And the week is up?

Mr. Barlow—I say to-morrow.

His Lordship—Has an order for payment out to the plaintiff?

Mr. Wilson—Yes.

His Lordship—What are you?—An Assyrian by birth.

I didn't mean that—A civil engineer by profession.

You claim from the defendant the sum of $5 for goods sold and delivered?—Yes.

For a Japanese curio match chain and one tin of Turkish cigarettes?—Yes.

When did you sell him these?—On the 3rd of last month.

Cross-examined by Mr. Harris:

Where was it you sold him the chain?—Where he is engaged.

You went to his place?—I was passing, when he snatched the thing from my hand and laughed.

I said it was for sale, and told him if he wanted to make a bargain he could buy it for $3.

Do you mean to say you sold it to him for $3?—Yes.

Was not there someone else present who saw this snatching?—No.

Didn't he pay you something on account?—No.

Mr. Harris said he intended to plead infancy. The boy bought the chain from the plaintiff for $15 provided his father agreed. The father took it and had it tested, found it to be pure brass, and told his son to return it.

Plaintiff—That is absolutely false. I sold the chain for $3.

Mr. Harris—What is the price at which you usually sell these cigarettes?—$12, $2 and $2.5. It depends upon the liberality of the purchaser.

You do not do any civil engineering?—No, for the past few years I have not done anything. I tried my best to get a respectable post, but failed. Then I wrote to my own people and got these little things to keep myself.

You did not go to the defendant's shop for the purpose of selling these things?—Not particularly. When I go about I carry them and offer them for sale.

Defendant in his evidence said the plaintiff told him the chain was real silver and he offered to sell it to witness for $15. Defendant said he would accept the chain if his father liked it, otherwise he would return it. When plaintiff demanded payment witness had only $12, which he gave to him. He also gave him eighty cents for a tin of cigarettes. When defendant offered to return the chain plaintiff said, "I sold it to you, and things sold cannot be taken back."

His Lordship entered judgment for the plaintiff for $2 and costs.

INDIGESTION.

It is not the quantity of food we eat, but what we digest and assimilate that nourishes the body. When the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition are diseased, and the food eaten is only imperfectly digested, there is loss of nutrition, and the body loses strength as a natural consequence. Not only does the system suffer from lack of nourishment, but the derangement of the organs must inevitably cause further complications. Indigestion is a most prevalent source of constipation, which in its turn causes a disordered liver, and finally you become burdened with Chronic Dyspepsia. Indigestion invariably arises from improperly prepared food, hasty eating, over-indulgence, fatigue, and exhaustion during the hot weather, breathing foul air, excessive brain work, and more frequently from care and worry which exhaust the nervous force and weaken the organs of digestion. Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills are a safe, sure, and reliable remedy for all stomachic complaints. They aid in the digestion and assimilation of food, and in a mild and gentle manner regulate the system, restoring the weak and dyspeptic to health and strength. They give you clean bowels, a healthy stomach, a lively liver, active kidneys, and blood that is rich and red.

They are a perfect Blood Purifier and permanent cure for Biliousness, Indigestion, Constipation, Headaches, Sallow Complexion, Liver and Kidney Troubles, Piles, Pimples, Boils and Blisters, and Rheumatic Affections.

SCIENTIFIC MISCELLANY.

The ultra-rapid cinematograph of M. Bull with which the Marey Institute of Paris has been making stereoscopic views of flying insects and breaking bubbles, takes pictures with exposures at the rate of 2,000 per second, the sensitive film being driven at the average speed of 130 feet per second. The usual stop of the film at each exposure is impossible at this speed, but a sharp image on the moving film is given by an electric spark not exceeding 1/400,000 of a second. The two long strips of film are wound on a reel or wheel 13 inches in diameter, enclosed in a light-proof case. The reel is driven by an electric motor, and 54 strips of copper around its axis make and break the primary circuit of an induction coil 54 times at each turn, each interruption causing the secondary of the coil to flash across a pair of spark-gaps arranged at a short distance in front. A series of quartz and Iceland spar lenses transmits the light to the aperture or ground-glass of the film case. Special devices are necessary to bring a flying insect within the field of view, and in one form the insect moves a light mica floor in escaping from a glass tube, thus making contact starting the shutter mechanism as light is begun toward the nearest window. The pictures made being shown by the ordinary cinematograph at the rate of 15 or less per second, instead of 1,500 or 2,000, the rapid motions photographed are easily seen.

OUR GROWING PLANT LIST.

The number of plant species now known is estimated by Prof. Chas. E. Bessey at 210,000. He points out that about 18 years ago Saccardo found the number known to be 174,000, and concluded that it would reach 400,000—including 250,000 fungi—in 150 years, by which time botanists might be expected to find all species in existence. Linnae, 150 years before Saccardo, knew 5,551 species.

A NEW MECHANICAL STEED.

The new American chainless bicycle is claimed to save 50 per cent. in power. The rider moves his feet up and down, instead of in a circle, thus working two long levers which alternately pull a chain passing to the rear over pulleys to two sprocket wheels, which in turn act upon a free wheel ratchet to drive the hub of the rear wheel.

STORAGE OF SUN AND WIND POWER.

The power-storage plan of Prof. E. A. Fessenden, first made known at the last meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, depends upon the use of intermittent cheap power for pumping water from tanks sunk 1,000 feet or so into the earth, and keeping the water in surface tanks until needed. The power thus stored would be made available at any time by causing the water to drive turbines on its way back to the lower level. The water could be pumped in the usual way by windmills, or by sun-engines, or, better, by both. Solar heat is to be utilized by means of a large tank containing a shallow layer of water and having a steam-tight covering of wired glass. It is stated that the heat can be made to boil the water, generating steam enough to run a low-pressure turbine, and it is calculated that a "sun-tank" 650 feet square would develop more than 1,000 horse-power for 7 hours a day throughout the year. It seems evident, however, that such a result could be had only in a favourable climate. Comparing the expense of different sources of energy, Prof. Fessenden estimated that power from water stored by the sun and wind pumps would be about one-fifth of steam, and one-fourth of that of gas.

A LIFE-SAVING PROTECTOR.

The rescue apparatus evolved from experiments in British mines is claimed to make it practicable and easy for its wearer to work 5 or 6 hours in the most noxious gases. No helmet is used, but a headpiece holds the mouthpiece in place, a light clamp closes the nostrils, and the eyes are protected by goggles. A bag suspended from the shoulders in front carries the air supply. A pipe leads the air exhaled to a receptacle filled with chemicals to absorb the carbonic acid and replenish the oxygen, and from this the restored air passes again to the breathing bag. The weight is 28 pounds.

METEOR MEASUREMENTS.

The height of a meteor observed in Asia on August 11, 1909, has been accurately determined from knots and outbursts shown on photographs taken at three different stations. It first appeared, very faint, at about 70 miles, brightened suddenly at 60 miles, showed marked outbursts at 55 and 58 miles, brightened at 50 miles, and disappeared at 50 miles.

HEATING IN A LINE.

New possibilities in medicine have been discovered by Dr. Franz Nagelschmidt in the heating effects of electric currents. In a demonstration before the London Royal Society of Medicine, he used an alternating current of as much as 23 amperes at 800 volts—instead of the very small current at 100,000 volts tried by D'Arsonval a quarter of a century ago—and with this he showed heating and cooking action confined entirely to the narrow path of the current. With the two poles placed on opposite sides of a piece of liver, the current coagulated the portion corresponding to the diameter of the electrodes, all except that in the direct course traversed being unaffected. In a solution of white of egg in a glass trough, the hardening could be watched, and with a current of 0.5 ampere it was seen to commence midway between the electrodes and progress toward them. The practical value of this action is expected to be great. Diseased tissue—like cancer—can be destroyed without loss of blood, localized pains can be relieved promptly by moderate heating, and many other results can be achieved, including that of strengthening and accelerating the heart's action.

AN OLD TIME MIRROR.

A Roman mirror found in an ancient burial ground in Austria, and believed to date from the second or third century A.D., is a slightly convex glass plate fitted into an indented leaden ring about a sixth of an inch in thickness and three inches in greatest diameter. From chemical and microscopic investigation, two German chemists have concluded that the mirror was made by attaching lead foil to thin glass by some balsam that has changed to resin and combined with the lead to form a resinate. Much of the lead of the frame had been converted into red oxide or basic carbonate.

MEXICAN MAGIC.

The plans for electrifying 700 miles of the western coast of Mexico include three large hydro-electric plants of a combined capacity of 300,000 horse-power and 1,270 miles of transmission line. Dams across the Mayo, Humaya and Santiago Rivers will form storage reservoirs aggregating 50 billion gallons in capacity. The largest of the three dams—that across the Humaya—will be 225 feet high and 708 feet long.

THE SECRET OUT.

The secret of the success of Mother Seigel's Syrup can be explained only by its unrivalled merit. America's greatest President, Lincoln, said: "You can fool some of the people all the time, and all the people some of the time, but you can't fool all the people all the time." How very true! If Mother Seigel's Syrup had been anything less than an unfailing friend, if it had been anything short of a complete cure for stomach and liver troubles, if it had been anything but what it is—a safe and certain family remedy, it would not have enjoyed the unshaken confidence of the people of sixteen countries for over forty years. Here is a lady who is but one person among the thousands upon thousands of people whose confidence in Mother Seigel's Syrup has been more than justified.

Mrs. S. Niemann, Cradock Street, Grahams-town, says: "Ten years ago, I had a very severe attack of indigestion, and although for several years I had been subject to frequent attacks of this complaint, in none of them had I had so much pain and suffering as upon this occasion. I lost my appetite completely, suffered from intense pains in the chest, side, and back, and seldom got a whole night's rest. The least exertion caused my heart to palpitate so violently, that it often brought on fainting fits. I became depressed, weak, nervous and unfit for anything. All the remedies I used proved ineffectual, and I was at a loss what to do for the best. Then I purchased Mother Seigel's Syrup and was delighted to find a speedy improvement, and that my appetite was more vigorous. Thanks to Mother Seigel's Syrup, in a few weeks I was completely restored to health. My appetite was spiced and I could eat whatever food I fancied with impunity, the aches and pains all gone, and I have never been troubled with indigestion since."—18/8/10.

Mrs. Niemann suffered because she could not digest her food, and you, too, will suffer unless your digestive organs are in thorough working order and able to do their duty. In other words, food must be thoroughly digested, or you will find it hard to suffer and in the end to die! But if your stomach is out of order, even plain wholesome food, instead of nourishing you, actually poisons you by slow degrees, and clogs your system.

This is the cause of pains after eating; a farred tongue, that "all-gone" feeling; headaches, bilious attacks, constipation, sleeplessness, rheumatic troubles, low spirits and many other every-day ailments; and the only cure for all such troubles is to restore your stomach, liver and bowels to healthy condition. To do this, you should take Mother Seigel's Syrup. This root and herb extract restores your stomach to working order, makes food nourish you, clears your system of the poisonous products of indigestion, and thus keeps you in sound bodily health and in cheerful spirits. If you want health and the happiness that health can give you, take the Syrup daily after meals, and that health and happiness will soon be yours. Test it to-day!
